

BIOGRAPHY

Jennifer Smyth

Jennifer Smyth is currently the Technical Sales Representative at Integument Technologies. Jennifer received her Bachelor of Science degree from the State University of New York at Buffalo in 1994. She has 11 years experience as a Research and Development scientist with a broad range of experience in analytical methods, inorganic and organic synthesis, as well as materials science and quality control practices. She is a certified at the green belt level in Six Sigma and Lean Manufacturing and is also a NACE certified Level 1 coating inspector.